5. External referencing and the program review cycle
5.1 The University's quality assurance processes for all programs are centred around the program review cycle, with all programs undergoing external review every 5 or 7 years.

5.2 The program review cycle for all coursework programs will include a schedule of external referencing activities, including both peer review of assessment and benchmarking.
5.3 Peer review of assessment must be undertaken at a minimum for at least three courses in a 5-year program review cycle or at least five courses in a 7-year program review cycle.

5.4 Benchmarking of data for progression, attrition and completion rates must be undertaken at least once per review cycle for those programs in a 5-year review cycle, and twice per review cycle for those programs in a 7-year review cycle. These can be done either against national field of education data for the discipline, or against equivalent program(s) at another provider(s).

5.5 To further quality improvement, staff involved in academic activities are encouraged to undertake additional peer review of assessment and benchmarking activities and can refer to the Peer Review of Assessment Procedures and the Benchmarking Procedures for information on approach and methodology.
