Recruitment, Selection and Appointment - Procedures

1. Purpose of procedures

1.1 To specify the requirements applying to the Recruitment, Selection and Appointment (RSA) of staff.

2. Scope and application

2.1 These procedures apply to the appointment of all staff employed by the University of the Sunshine Coast in a fixed-term, ongoing or casual position.

2.2 These procedures do not apply to:

(a) a staff member whose position is reclassified;

(b) the conversion of fixed-term or casual staff member; or

(c) appointment of members to the University Executive.

3. Definitions

Refer to the University’s Glossary of Terms for definitions as they specifically relate to policy documents.

Achievement Relative to Opportunity relates to assessing achievements with consideration of the overall work time that has been available to the staff member based on their personal circumstances, which could include caring responsibility, disability, part-time work arrangements, periods of leave, etc. Achievement relative to opportunity is a positive acknowledgement of what a staff member has achieved given the opportunities available.

Appointment is the process whereby an offer is made and accepted and the successful applicant commences employment in the vacant position.

Delegate (noun) means the position/committee of the University who has been authorised to carry out the delegation.

Schedule C is the recorded summary of operational and administrative authorisations (commonly referred to as Delegations).

Recruitment is the process of seeking and attracting a pool of qualified applicants from which candidates for job vacancies can be selected.

Selection is the process of gathering job-relevant information and making employment decisions about applicants for vacant positions.

Merit refers to the relationship between a person's qualities (knowledge, skills, abilities and experience) and those qualities required for performance in a particular position.

Merit-based selection considers information gathered across all selection methods used to assess a candidate against the position requirements.

Internal applicant is classified as:

• a current staff member holding an ongoing or fixed-term appointment at the date of publication of the advertisement; or

• a casual professional or academic staff member who has an current appointment at the date of publication of the advertisement.

Internally advertised: recruitment processes are advertised within the University community and are open to existing UniSC staff members who hold a current ongoing, fixed-term or casual appointment with UniSC at the date of advertisement.

Position description describes the organisational location, primary objectives, key responsibilities, and the Key Selection Criteria for a position.
Order of merit is a list of pre-qualified applicants that have been through a merit selection process and are considered appointable to the position. Applicants on an order of merit may or may not receive an offer of employment.

A Conflict of interest occurs when there is a conflict between a member of the University community’s private interests and their university duties where they could be influenced, or appear to be influenced, in the performance of their official duties and responsibilities with the University. Refer to the Conflict of Interest – Governing Policy for further information.

Organisational Change is change that affects a School/Work area and results in changes to staffing. These changes may include the creation and deletion of positions, changes to the duties or grading of several positions, or employees becoming excess to requirements.

Peer representative is a staff member at the same, or higher classification as the vacant position, and preferably from a related work area (e.g. recruiting for a Finance Business Partner, the peer representative could be a Senior Business Partner from People and Culture).

Pre-employment checks is the completion of reference checks, verifying work rights, and validation of qualifications, certificates, and associations.

Recruitment documentation is defined as the job requisition; a candidate’s application including their personal details, CV or Resume and any supplementary supporting documentation such as working rights, qualifications, cover letter, relative to opportunity statement (where appropriate) or alike; Shortlist Assessment Form; Interview Schedule Form; Interview Guide; Interview Assessment Form; Reference Report; Appointment Request Form etc.

Secondment is the temporary transfer of a staff member to another position within UniSC for a period not normally greater than 12 months and can only be used as per the requirements for fixed-term appointments in the enterprise agreement.

4. Regulatory framework
4.1 All aspects of RSA are to be consistent with relevant State and Federal legislation and in accordance with the University's policy documents. The University commits to a fair and consistent recruitment and selection process based on the principles of equal opportunity, merit-based determinations and assessment of achievement relative to opportunity. It is the responsibility of the Chairperson, selection panel members and staff involved to ensure that the recruitment and selection process is fair and equitable for all applicants.

4.2 Traditionally, measurements of merit and achievement may have been based on a notional standard of a full-time and uninterrupted career. This profile does not reflect contemporary employee experiences and imposes unrealistic standards by failing to acknowledge career interruptions and responsibilities outside of work. The retention of these normative expectations (no matter how inadvertently they are applied) could result in talented staff being precluded from entering and/or advancing their careers during their employment with University of the Sunshine Coast.

5. Preparation
5.1 Workforce planning
5.1.1 Workforce planning is a proactive process that requires organisational analysis to determine future staffing requirements and the development of strategies to ensure ongoing alignment between the University’s strategic directions and the staff profile. Workforce planning involves:

(a) identifying the work area’s future direction and recruiting/training staff members to avoid shortages or surpluses of staff or capabilities;

(b) defining the work area’s current capabilities by analysing staff skills, abilities, qualifications and attributes;

(c) managing turnover of staff and succession planning;

(d) establishing a diverse staff profile to take advantage of the different perspectives, knowledge and ideas that diversity brings; and

(e) maximising staff capabilities and improving career opportunities.

5.1.2 It is the responsibility of the Supervisor or relevant Cost Centre Manager (CCM) to work with People and Culture to determine and review the workforce planning requirements of the respective School or Work Area prior to submitting a requisition to recruit.

5.2 Position descriptions and evaluation
5.2.1 Where a new position is established, a Position Description must be prepared or reviewed by the supervisor and relevant Head of Organisational Unit or CCM. It is the responsibility of the supervisor to ensure that the content accurately reflects the responsibilities and requirements of the position.
5.2.2 If the position is new, or if People and Culture determines that significant changes have been made, the document must be evaluated by People and Culture and assigned a classification level consistent with the Job Evaluation of Professional Positions Guidelines or Academic Position Classification Guidelines prior to seeking approval to recruit. Gender neutral language is used in all documentation.

5.2.3 Within any Position Description, appropriate screening evaluation criteria must be established in order to assess applicants.

5.3 Approval to recruit

5.3.1 Following the establishment of a new position and evaluation of the Position Description, and prior to commencing any recruitment activity, the requisition to recruit must be approved by the relevant delegated authority electronically.

5.4 Third-Party recruitment services

5.4.1 A third-party recruitment or search firm may be engaged to assist in the recruitment of specialist staff. All requests to outsource recruitment activities must be directed to the Talent Acquisition Manager (People and Culture) and approved by the relevant Executive member.
