

Take your creative passion to the next level

Doctor of Creative Arts

If you are an experienced professional in any area of the creative arts, then this doctoral program has your name on it. Advance your critical and theoretical skills and make a serious splash with your work.

It's a great opportunity for new levels of creative excellence for writers, producers, art directors, academics, and multimedia and digital design professionals. You produce one or more highly original creative arts products, together with an exegesis.

Your final work is judged by independent experts using contemporary international standards. A supervisor guides your program and you'll take courses, seminars or reading activities to support the completion of your work.

Choose from:

- Creative writing
- Art and digital design
- Interactive technologies and games

Admission requirements

To be eligible for admission to Doctor of Creative Arts candidature, applicants are normally required to hold a master level degree or a bachelors degree with at least Honours Class 2 Division I from a recognised higher education institution.
