

P

ROAD SAFETY TIPS

Young drivers

- Get parents and other experienced drivers to supervise you for as many hours as possible, over as long a period of time as possible.
- Find out about alternatives to driving. If you know you will be tired, choose a different travel option beforehand and don't drive at all. If you are already out and you don't think it is safe or a good idea for you to drive, consider your other travel options so you can use one of these as a back-up plan.
- When you have your Provisional license, know your risk factors and different options for minimising your risk.
- Think about who your passengers are.
- Remember, you can always change your mind.

MORE INFORMATION

Dr Bridie Scott-Parker
NHMRC Research Fellow
Adolescent Risk Research Unit (ARRU)
University of the Sunshine Coast
Tel: 07 5456 5844 | Email: bscottpa@usc.edu.au

usc.edu.au | Rise, and shine.