

Build your research skills in the business arena

Bachelor of Business (Honours)

Research an area of business you are passionate about making a difference in, giving you the skills valued by employers and the confidence you need to launch into the business world.

Under the supervision of experienced researchers, you will build your knowledge and understanding of a topic of interest to you.

This is an opportunity to join our rich and diverse student research community to gain a deeper knowledge and understanding of issues facing organisations today.

At the end of your honours program, you could continue your research with further postgraduate study or a higher research degree.

In this program, you will:

- Develop and enhance your research skills
- Complete a thesis study that contributes to business knowledge
- Critically review literature to inform your own meaningful research
- Specialise in a business area of your interest
- Hone your communication skills
