for senior executives

Executive Master of Business Administration

In USC's EMBA program you'll learn advanced business management skills and develop a deeper understanding of today's business environment, to help take your business or career to the next level. You'll study a range of key business areas including leadership, strategic management, innovation and entrepreneurship, finance, economics and marketing.

In this program you will:

- Attend intensive weekend sessions once a month, over 2 years.
- Study alongside like-minded peers in a personalised environment.
- Learn the latest in business thinking from USC academics and external organisations.
- Sharpen your business management skills and work on management issues relevant to both the private and public sectors.
- Use problem-solving activities to challenge and expand your skills, attitudes and perspectives.
- Gain experiential learning through an optional overseas study tour.

You don't need an undergraduate degree to apply for postgraduate business studies. We'll consider other qualifications (including partial completion of a degree or other post-secondary qualifications) and relevant work experience as part of your application.

Program delivery mode

The EMBA is delivered on campus at USC on one weekend each month across approximately 22 months. For the assigned weekends, students will need to be available to attend classes Fri-Sun, 9am–4.30pm.

Each weekend of delivery combines two courses so that delivery of a single course is not concentrated in one weekend. In addition, exams are conducted progressively throughout the scheduled weekends, not at a separate time. Due to this intensive delivery mode you are able to gain a real sense of achievement and progress. The EMBA program commences in Session 2 (end of February) for the first year of study, and continues each month until November. After a short break at the end of the year, the program will re-commence in Session 1 (early January).
